

This document describes a technology-driven team building intelligent, real-time systems for modern insurance distribution.

The platform supports low-latency communication and operational scale, while connecting engineering, data, and growth capabilities.