

INULTI is a technology-driven company building intelligent, real-time systems for modern insurance distribution. We design and operate high-performance infrastructure where data, marketing, and engineering converge.

Our platforms process real-time events, power low-latency communication, and scale across global markets.